

Art & Design: Together We Make Learning A Memorable, Unmissable Adventure

Preamble

Art, craft and design embody some of the highest forms of human creativity. A high-quality art and design education should engage, inspire and challenge pupils, equipping them with the knowledge and skills to experiment, invent and create their own works of art, craft and design. As pupils progress, they should be able to think critically and develop a more rigorous understanding of art and design. They should also know how art and design both reflect and shape our history, and contribute to the culture, creativity and wealth of our nation.

INTENT

TOGETHER WE ACHIEVE EXCELLENCE
AN UNMISSABLE, UNFORGETTABLE ADVENTURE IN LEARNING

READING
Writing, Speaking and Listening, Reading for Pleasure and Enquiry, Media

CHARACTER / WELLBEING
Resilience, Confidence, Teamwork, Responsibility, Leadership, Personal and Social Development, Citizenship, PSHE

CREATE, REASON, COMMUNICATE
Art, Music, Design, Drama, Physical Education, Computing, PE, PSHE

LEARN MORE THEN DO MORE
CHOOSE TO BE MORE
RF MORE NEWTON

We want all learners to reach at least the expected National Curriculum standard by the end of year 6 and to be keen to continue their studies in key stage 3 and beyond. We want learners to be able to see themselves as designers.

The art lesson should be one our learners look forward to and greet with enthusiasm. They should take control of their own exploration and creativity and leave lessons feeling accomplished and excited to find out more.

When studying Art and Design, learners will draw on their developing learning habits, making progress in their ability to persevere, work effectively as a team, respect and celebrate difference, ask questions and create. We want learners to be interested in techniques and feel confident to ‘have a go’, explore and create. At Newton Burgoland we believe that everyone is an artist.

Our curriculum ensures that pupils can explore 3 key concepts from EYFS to year 6 building knowledge and understanding of: drawing, painting and sculpture. We will use these to develop a wide range of art and design techniques in using colour, pattern, texture, line, shape, form and space

This document has been developed by teaching staff at Newton Burgoland Primary School- it is a working document, subject to change so that we can continue to meet the needs of all learners. It will be reviewed annually to ensure that it remains fit for purpose.

IMPLEMENTATION

The majority of work in Art and Design is taught through units of work aimed to cover specific art techniques or knowledge. Children are encouraged to develop an independence to their learning, taking control of their own sketchbooks. Work is not marked although is still assessed on a sheet at the beginning of each new unit. This allows the children to explore freely and form a resilience and a 'have a go' attitude.

In Art children show critical thinking through learning about and discussing likes and dislikes of other artists work. They also think critically about their own work and the work of their peers. Peer assessing is encouraged and children develop a sense of appreciation of feedback from others, including the teacher.

Children are shown and have chance to experiment with a variety of techniques, using various materials throughout their art education. In Early years they are encouraged to use the creating area independently and make models using junk materials.

Each unit is designed to show a progression of skills and knowledge, sometimes resulting in an end product that can be displayed.

Art is also seen across the curriculum. In topic units, art is sometimes used to supplement understanding. In Geography, for example, children might draw their own maps. Observational drawings are sometimes seen in Science and Maths, for labelled diagrams. Art is embedded into our Forest Schools programme in a variety of ways. Children use natural materials to make sculpture or floor work. They may make observational drawings or paintings of the world around them, and regularly have access to crafting activities if they choose.

Assessment, Recording and Reporting

In all subjects there are three broad areas for assessment:

- Children's knowledge and understanding
- How well children can use and apply their knowledge, understanding and skills at the end of a unit of work to complete an independent (of an adult) task or challenge.
- How well learners are developing habits for learning and character

Teachers assess learner's work, their attitudes, increasing skills, knowledge and understanding, by making informal judgements as they observe them during lessons. This assessment enables planning to be tailored to meet learners needs. Assessment encompasses teacher, peer and self-assessment. In all subjects, opportunities for both Assessment for Learning and Assessment of Learning are built into provision. Learners are supported to reflect on their own learning and, age appropriately, to make judgements about their strengths and needs, beginning to plan how to make progress and set personal targets.

Baseline assessment, in order to understand pupils' prior learning, is an essential part of planning to ensure new learning is relevant and progress can be assessed.

The learners work, in particular baseline assessments and end of unit assessments, which are recorded within learners' sketchbooks are used to make decisions at the end of each unit, and at the end of each year, as to next learning steps and whether or not learners are making strong progress and are on track for end of key stage expectation. Progress is recorded and reported to parents as part of the child's annual school report.

Special Educational Needs

Design technology is taught to all children, whatever their ability, in accordance with the school curriculum policy of providing a broad and balanced education to all children. Teachers provide learning opportunities matched to the needs of children with learning difficulties.

IMPACT

Prior to the pandemic:

- Pupils made good progress in Art & Design to achieve at least ARE by the end of year 6 in almost all areas
- Continuous provision and direct teaching in EYFS prepared pupils well for the national curriculum.
- Children could speak confidently about their learning in Art & Design
- Those working at greater depth were able to make connections between units of study. They went beyond the knowledge studied and asked questions to further their understanding. They were creative and original in their artwork

As a result of the pandemic pupils have:

- had fewer opportunities to explore, share resources and address misconceptions through talking and questioning – not all learning is secure.
- had a variety of experiences when home learning and accessed set learning differently.
- had fewer opportunities for collaboration
- Had less access to materials at home.
- Children did more artwork at home during home learning

By following the assess, plan, do, review cycle teachers will identify areas which need more or less focus over the next 2 years and support all pupils to make strong progress from starting points.

Assessment in Art

- Monitored by sketchbook work, one to one or small group conversation, whole class discussion, final outcome. 'I can' statements are printed at the start of each unit and highlighted green or orange (in line with whole school marking policy)
- Identify any personal challenges preventing meeting "I Can" statements
- Identify any weaknesses common to many in class which might help identify areas you need to focus on again as a teacher.
- Identify areas of particular strength which might benefit from being developed.
- No grades to be applied, no teacher marking in sketchbook where children have created work.

At the end of each unit of work: Teachers will consider whether or not a pupil is on track to achieve, in line with national curriculum expectations for the end of year 6.

Art and design in EYFS

Expressive Arts and Design (Exploring and Using Media and Materials)

Children safely use and explore a variety of materials, tools and techniques, experimenting with colour, design, texture, form and function.

Expressive Arts and Design (Being Imaginative)

Children use what they have learnt about media and materials in original ways, thinking about uses and purposes. They represent their own ideas, thoughts and feelings through design and technology, art, music, dance, role play and stories.

Physical Development (Moving and Handling)

Children handle equipment and tools effectively, including pencils for writing.

Key Stage 1 National Curriculum Expectations

Art & Design

- Pupils should be taught:
- to use a range of materials creatively to design and make products
- to use drawing, painting and sculpture to develop and share their ideas, experiences and imagination
- to develop a wide range of art and design techniques in using colour, pattern, texture, line, shape, form and space
- about the work of a range of artists, craft makers and designers, describing the differences and similarities between different practices and disciplines, and making links to their own work.

Aims:

The national curriculum for art and design aims to ensure that all pupils:

- produce creative work, exploring their ideas and recording their experiences
- become proficient in drawing, painting, sculpture and other art, craft and design techniques
- evaluate and analyse creative works using the language of art, craft and design
- know about great artists, craft makers and designers, and understand the historical and cultural development of their art forms.

Key Stage 2 National Curriculum Expectations

Art & Design

- Pupils should be taught to develop their techniques, including their control and their use of materials, with creativity, experimentation and an increasing awareness of different kinds of art, craft and design. Pupils should be taught:
- to create sketch books to record their observations and use them to review and revisit ideas
- to improve their mastery of art and design techniques, including drawing, painting and sculpture with a range of materials [for example, pencil, charcoal, paint, clay]
- about great artists, architects and designers in history.

Aims:

The national curriculum for art and design aims to ensure that all pupils:

- produce creative work, exploring their ideas and recording their experiences
- become proficient in drawing, painting, sculpture and other art, craft and design techniques
- evaluate and analyse creative works using the language of art, craft and design
- know about great artists, craft makers and designers, and understand the historical and cultural development of their art forms.

Autumn Term Reception/Yr1 Year A Exploring Watercolour	Topic: Paint Enquiry Question: How can we use the properties of watercolour to make experimental images?

About this unit/ Connections Children are introduced to watercolour. Through an open and exploratory approach, children not only discover what watercolour can do, how it acts and how they can “control” it, but also how the watercolour itself can help reveal the “story” of the painting. Water colours are used in EY and year 1 regularly within active learning, so this unit follows on from that exploration into using watercolours for a different purpose. Children will learn more control over this medium and understand how to manipulate it to make their artwork.

About this unit/ Connections Children are introduced to the idea that artists often work in partnership and are often inspired by other art forms – in this case music and the visual arts. Children explore how other artists have used sound to inspire their artwork, and then go on to experiment with how they can use their mark making skills to both be influenced by, and to capture, the expression in music. Children then explore making skills to collage or make inventive instruments, creating a class “orchestra”. Children are able to link this unit with the music they are currently listening to in their music lessons. This unit links with PSHE and enables children a free space to explore how music makes them feel without any judgement.

About this unit/Connections

In this pathway children are introduced to the idea that many artists use flora and fauna to inspire their work. We look at artists who used drawing as a way to accurately capture the way plants and insects look, and artists who use their imagination to create their own versions of flora and fauna. Children spend time engaged in close looking as a way to build drawing skills. They also experiment with new materials. They practice cutting and collage skills and explore shape and colour to build images. Finally there is the opportunity for children to work collaboratively on a shared background for the artwork, and pupils can see how their individual efforts are valued as part of a larger class artwork.

About this unit/ Connections Children will have access to a variety of dry and wet media to explore spirals. They will observe objects in nature that show spirals and recreate them using 2D and 3D. Children are enabled to build an understanding about the way they can make marks on a drawing surface. They explore how the way they hold a drawing tool, and move their bodies, will affect the drawings they make. Children will begin to explore mark-making and experiment with how they can use the marks they make in their drawings. They are introduced to the fact that they can make drawings as a result of observation, without a seen subject matter. (i.e. from action or imagination) and that they can make drawings as a result of observation. Through their drawings children are able to talk about what they can see and how it makes them feel. This unit is the starting point of formal drawing in school. It links in to all other drawing units and helps with pencil control and handwriting, particularly forming 'curly' letters. It will link in with science units 'plants and animals including humans'. It will also link to other drawing units in key stage 2, where the drawings skills and understanding of line, tone and shape including proportions are further developed.

About this unit/ Connections

In this pathway children are introduced to what sculpture can be, and invited to explore the work of other sculptors whilst taking a playful and inventive approach to making their own sculptures.
The pathway encourages children to start voicing their response to sculptural artworks, including their own, and to give them time and space to explore properties of materials, and what happens when you join one or more materials together to construct new forms.

Children use their own bodies, then things they collect around them, to create a variety of prints. They use their hands and feet to make prints, and they take rubbings of textures from the environment around them. They make “plates” by making impressions in plasticine, and then by using printing foam. They explore how they can build up images by creating multiples, and use line, shape, colour and texture to explore pattern, sequencing and symmetry. This unit is the first exploration of using print techniques and will inform the following year with mono printing.

About this unit/ Connections Children are introduced to the idea that artists can be collectors: they go out into the world, look at things in new ways, and bring things back to the studio to inspire their art. Children explore observational drawing and experimental mark making, and think about how they can use composition to create their artwork. The exercises and projects in this pathway encourage children to begin to develop hand-eye coordination through slow and paced looking. This is balanced by encouraging children to nurture a playful exploration of media, a curiosity towards the world around them, and to begin to take creative risks/trust instinct. This unit gives children the opportunity to play with layered drawings, linked to collage and print units, where children are encouraged to layer and overlap images. They may also make links with other collections and pattern such as shape in maths and science with living things including animals.

About this unit/ Connections Children are introduced to the idea that they can use paint in an intuitive and exploratory way. The pathway starts with an introduction to artists who use paint and colour to create exciting gestural and abstract work. Children explore primary colours and secondary colours through expressive mark making, connecting colour, mark making and texture (of paint) through abstract work. Pupils then explore the brush work of two old masters when we focus in on details of paintings to understand how they built the work.

Pupils then go on to draw from a colourful still life, finally making expressive and gestural paintings with acrylic paint.

Sketchbooks are used throughout to record, experiment and reflect.

Painting is embedded throughout the curriculum, including in early years so this unit gives children the opportunity to develop skills for using brushstrokes in a specific way for an intended purpose, whether that be to give an impression, or create movement.

About this unit/ Connections

Draw from life, exploring local habitats.

Building on the exploration of drawing in Autumn term 1, this pathway starts with two explorations of drawing – one drawing from photographs or film, and two drawing from small, closely observed objects.

In both sessions pupils develop drawing and mark making skills.

Children are then introduced to mono print. They explore the work of an artist who uses mono print in his own work, and are introduced to a simple mono print technique.

Classes then have a choice of projects to develop mono printing and drawing skills, depending upon their preferred area of subject focus.

This pathways encourages children to take creative risks and use drawing as a way to playfully invent and create narratives.

Cycle A has a printing unit so whichever one comes first gives the children an introduction to a specific printing technique, and the other unit follows on from these skills to give children the chance to further improve and explore printed art. Mono printing specifically has links with drawing and use of line and shape.

Summer Term Year 1/ 2 A Making Birds	Topic: Making Enquiry Question: How can we transform materials into sculpture? How can we transform 2d paper into 3d form? How can we use drawing and texture to add character to our sculpture?
National Curriculum Objectives (KS1): <ul style="list-style-type: none"> <li>● to use a range of materials creatively to design and make products</li> <li>● to use drawing, painting and sculpture to develop and share their ideas, experiences and imagination</li> <li>● to develop a wide range of art and design techniques in using colour, pattern, texture, line, shape, form and space</li> <li>● to know about the work of a range of artists, craft makers and designers, describing the differences and similarities between different practices and disciplines, and making links to their own work.</li> </ul>

About this unit/ Connections Children continue to develop their understanding of sculpture and build their making skills. The exploration starts with careful looking and drawing, and from this “grounded” basis children are encouraged to take creative risks by using experimental mark-making with a variety of media. Children are then invited to explore how they can manipulate their drawings in an intuitive way to make 3d forms. Paper is twisted, folded, crumpled to become 3d and added to a simple structure. Children explore balance to finally created an individual bird. The class birds can then be brought together to make a “flock” – with each child’s artwork valued as part of the whole. In early years, children have lots of access to junk modelling, so this unit follows on from that very self directed way of creating, into a more purposeful way of using sculpting materials.

Autumn Term Year 3 /4 A Gestural Drawing with Charcoal	Topic: Drawing &amp; Sketchbooks Enquiry Question: How can we use gestural drawing with charcoal to make drawings full of energy and drama?
National Curriculum Objectives (KS2): Pupils should be taught to develop their techniques, including their control and their use of materials, with creativity, experimentation and an increasing awareness of different kinds of art, craft and design. Pupils should be taught: <ul style="list-style-type: none"> <li>• to create sketch books to record their observations and use them to review and revisit ideas</li> <li>• to improve their mastery of art and design techniques, including drawing, painting and sculpture with a range of materials [for example, pencil, charcoal, paint, clay]</li> <li>• to know about great artists, architects and designers in history.</li> </ul>

That when we draw, we can use gestural marks to make work. That cave people used charcoal and their fingers to draw on cave walls and we can still do the same thing today. That when we draw, we can use the expressive marks we make to create a sense of drama. That when we draw, we can move around. That when we draw, we can use light to make our subject more dramatic, and we can use the qualities of charcoal to capture this drama. That when we reflect on our own work and the work of others, we think about what we are good at and what we might do differently next time.

About this unit/ Connections Children discover how to make drawings that capture a sense of drama or performance using charcoal. Children are freed from the constraints of creating representational drawings based on observation – instead they use the qualities of the medium to work in dynamic ways. Linking drawing to the whole body helps children see drawing as a physical activity, whilst a sense of narrative feeds the imagination. This unit will follow on from drawing units in KS1. Children will further develop skills and techniques in drawing in different ways. This unit could link with the stone age History unit, where cave drawings could be looked at.

Spring Term Year 3/ 4 A Exploring Pattern	Topic: Print, Collage, Colour Enquiry Question: How can we work with pattern in a mindful way to create artwork which can be applied to many outcomes?
National Curriculum Objectives (KS2): Pupils should be taught to develop their techniques, including their control and their use of materials, with creativity, experimentation and an increasing awareness of different kinds of art, craft and design. Pupils should be taught: <ul style="list-style-type: none"> <li>• to create sketch books to record their observations and use them to review and revisit ideas</li> <li>• to improve their mastery of art and design techniques, including drawing, painting and sculpture with a range of materials [for example, pencil, charcoal, paint, clay]</li> <li>• to know about great artists, architects and designers in history.</li> </ul>

About this unit/ Connections Children have the opportunity to explore pattern and develop a range of technical skills and knowledge through drawing and collage. The pathway also introduces them to the idea that working with pattern can be a mindful activity, and that as humans we respond to patterns made by other people. Pattern links with earlier units in KS1 such as print making where children will have made repeated patterns in print making and explore and draw units.

Summer Term Year 3 / 4 A  Sculpture, Structure, Inventiveness and Determination	Topic: Working in 3 Dimensions  Enquiry Question: Can we demonstrate traits of inventiveness and determination, as well as imagination, when making sculpture?

About this unit/ Connections  Children explore formal drawing and sculpture skills like line, mark making, shape, form, balance and structure, but they also just as importantly explore how it feels to make art. They explore how they can appreciate a sense of challenge, and a feeling of trying things out without fear of failure or "wrong or right".

Pupils start by seeing how artists sometimes help us learn about ourselves by drawing parallels with other lives. Pupils apply this knowledge by looking at how birds build nests – what can we learn from them about the traits we might show when we make experimental drawings and build sculpture?

Autumn Term B Year 3 / 4

Telling Stories Through Drawing and Making

Topic: Working in 3 Dimensions

Enquiry Question: How can we create 3 dimensional characters inspired by characters in film and fiction?

National Curriculum Objectives (KS2):

Pupils should be taught to develop their techniques, including their control and their use of materials, with creativity, experimentation and an increasing awareness of different kinds of art, craft and design.

Pupils should be taught:

- to create sketch books to record their observations and use them to review and revisit ideas
- to improve their mastery of art and design techniques, including drawing, painting and sculpture with a range of materials [for example, pencil, charcoal, paint, clay]
- to know about great artists, architects and designers in history.

About this unit/ Connections

Children are enabled to make sculptural equivalents of characters from film and literature.

The pathway begins with an introduction to the work of two artists who use their sketchbooks to help them make the transition from words/film to image/object.

Pupils then use their own sketchbooks to explore their response to the original stimulus, and then go on to develop and make a sculptural character.

Spring Term Year 3 / 4 B Cloth, Thread, Paint	Topic: Paint, Surface, Texture Enquiry Question: How can we create evocative land and seascapes using fabric, paint and thread? How can we draw upon our mark making skills when working with thread?

About this unit/ Connections Children are introduced to artists that combine paint and sewing, art and craft, to make work. Children explore how these artists use fabric, paint and thread to make work in response to landscapes (and sometimes the people within those landscapes).

Children are invited to start by creating an underpainting on cloth, using paint in a fluid and intuitive way. They then go on to explore sewing not as a precise technical craft, but as an alternative way to make intuitive, textural marks, over the painted backgrounds. Sketchbooks and drawing are used as a way for pupils to discover their own personal response to the landscape used as stimulus, and as a way to explore mark making, colour and composition.

About this unit/ Connections

Pupils explore the work of set designers – in the first instance a set designer that works in theatre, and in the second instance a maker that creates sets for animation. Pupils go on to explore how they can create their own model set, inspired by a creative stimulus (poetry, prose, film or music). Sketchbooks are used throughout to brainstorm, record, test and reflect.

Spring Term Year 5/ 6 A

Exploring Identity

Topic: Collage, Drawing, Sketchbooks

Enquiry Question: How can we learn more about ourselves through making art? How do we bring our own experience to the art we make?

National Curriculum Objectives (KS2):

Pupils should be taught to develop their techniques, including their control and their use of materials, with creativity, experimentation and an increasing awareness of different kinds of art, craft and design.

Pupils should be taught:

- to create sketch books to record their observations and use them to review and revisit ideas
- to improve their mastery of art and design techniques, including drawing, painting and sculpture with a range of materials [for example, pencil, charcoal, paint, clay] to know about great artists, architects and designers in history.

Vocabulary

Identity, Layer, Constructed, Portraiture, Layering, Digital Art, Physical, Present, Share, Reflect, Respond, Articulate, Feedback, Crit, Similarities, Differences.

Artists

Njideka Akunyili Crosby
Yinka Shonibare
Thandiwe Muriu

Key Concepts

That artists embrace the things which make them who they are: their culture, background, experiences, passions – and use these in their work to help them create work which others can relate to.
That people are the sum of lots of different experiences, and that through art we can explore our identity.
That we can use techniques such as working with layers to help create imagery which reflects the complex nature of our identities.
That as viewers we can then “read” imagery made by other people, unpicking imagery, line, shape, colour to help us understand the experience of the artist.
That when we reflect on our own work and the work of others, we can think about what we are good at and what we might do differently next time.

Cross Curricular Opportunity:

- History: Explore the identity of a figure from your chosen history topic.
- PSHCE: Collaboration, Peer Discussion, Different Religions, Ethnic Identity.

Cultural capital/ enrichment/ diversity

Watch art videos online to increase access to places you are unable to visit. Visit local galleries, museums, crafts groups, artists.

About this unit/ Connections

Pupils explore how artists use various aspects of their identity, creating imagery which explores many different aspects within one image by using layers and juxtaposition. Children listen to how the artists construct their work, before working physically in drawing and collage or digitally on a tablet to make their own layered and constructed portrait.

Pupils also use sketchbook throughout to help them generate ideas, experiment with materials and techniques, and record and reflect.

Summer Year 5/ 6 A

Activism

Topic: Printing, Collage, Drawing.

Enquiry Question: How can we, as artists, use our skills, vision and creativity to speak on behalf of communities, changing the world for the better?

National Curriculum Objectives (KS2):

Pupils should be taught to develop their techniques, including their control and their use of materials, with creativity, experimentation and an increasing awareness of different kinds of art, craft and design.

Pupils should be taught:

- to create sketch books to record their observations and use them to review and revisit ideas
- to improve their mastery of art and design techniques, including drawing, painting and sculpture with a range of materials [for example, pencil, charcoal, paint, clay] to know about great artists, architects and designers in history.

Vocabulary

Activism, Voice, Message, Community, Poster, Zine, Screenprinting, Present, Share, Reflect, Respond, Articulate, Feedback, Crit, Similarities, Differences,

Artists

Luba Lukova
Faith Ringgold

Key Concepts

That artists can use art as a way to express their opinions, using their skills to speak for sectors of society.
That artists acting as activists often use print because it allows them to duplicate and distribute their message.
That a carefully chosen image can be a powerful way to communicate as it is direct and crosses boundaries of language.
That through art as activism we can come together.

Cross Curricular Opportunity:

- History: Look at the messaging from WW2 posters.
- Science: Environmental changes, deforestation.
- PSHCE: Responsibility to the planet, Collaboration, Peer Discussion, Different Religions, Ethnic Identity.

Cultural capital/ enrichment/ diversity

Watch art videos online to increase access to places you are unable to visit. Visit local galleries, museums, crafts groups, artists

About this unit/ Connections

Children are introduced to the idea that they can use art as a way of sharing their passions and interests with their peers and community. We start by introducing pupils to artists who are activists, and then we go on to help pupils identify and voice the things they care about as individuals.

There is then a choice of projects: the class can either make posters or zines, using using collage, print and drawing.

That when we transform two dimensional surfaces we can use line, mark making, value, shape, colour, pattern and composition to help us create our artwork. That there is a challenge involved in bringing two dimensions to 3 dimensions which we can solve with a combination of invention and logic. That when we reflect on our own work and the work of others, we can think about what we are good at and what we might do differently next time.

About this unit/ Connections

Children will be working towards graphic design and redesigning food packaging.

This option allows children to explore the idea that drawing as a 2 dimensional activity can be used to transform surfaces which can then be manipulated into a 3 dimensional object.

Along the way, children explore how mark making, line, tonal value, colour, shape, and composition can be used to inform the final piece.

The sculptural project additional includes two methods to help build drawing skills: looking at negative space and grid drawing.

The graphic design packaging project includes typography.

Spring term Year 5/ 6 B

Mixed Media Land & City Scapes

Topic: Drawing and Sketchbooks

Enquiry Question: How can we use a variety of media to capture the spirit of a place?

National Curriculum Objectives (KS2):

Pupils should be taught to develop their techniques, including their control and their use of materials, with creativity, experimentation and an increasing awareness of different kinds of art, craft and design.

Pupils should be taught:

- to create sketch books to record their observations and use them to review and revisit ideas
- to improve their mastery of art and design techniques, including drawing, painting and sculpture with a range of materials [for example, pencil, charcoal, paint, clay] to know about great artists, architects and designers in history.

Vocabulary

Negative space, Grid method, Scaling up, Net, Structure, Balance, Sketchbooks, Brainstorm, Explore, Experiment, Test, Try Out, Line, Shape, Wash, Layer, Pen, Watercolour, Exaggerate, Gesture, Present, Share, Reflect, Respond, Feedback, Articulate, Photograph, Lighting, Composition, Focus, Intention, Feedback, Crit, Similarities, Differences,

Artists

Vanessa Gardiner
The Shoreditch Sketcher
Monet

Key Concepts

That artists use a variety of media often combining it in inventive ways, to capture the energy and spirit of land or city scapes.
That artists often work outside (plein air) so that all their senses can be used to inform the work.
That as artists we are able to experiment with materials, combining them to see what happens. We can feel free and safe to take creative risks, without fear of getting things “wrong”.
We can share our artistic discoveries with, and be inspired by each other.
We can use sketchbooks to focus this exploration and we do not always need to create an “end result” – sometimes the exploratory journey is more than enough.

Cross Curricular Opportunity:

- Geography: Link your landscapes to your chosen topic e.g. cities in the Northern hemisphere, settlements and land use, digital mapping.

Cultural capital/ enrichment/ diversity

About this unit/ Connections Children are introduced to the idea that artists don't just work in studios – instead they get out into the world and draw and paint from life, inspired by the land and city scapes where they live. Pupils also see how artists use their creative freedom to explore ways of working which involve different materials and media. Pupils extend and adapt existing sketchbooks so that they can make drawings/paintings at different scales and ratios. They are enabled to take creative risks, explore and experiment, without the pressure of having to “produce” an end result. Pupils are given the freedom to use mixed medium in ways which suit them and their subject matter.

About this unit/ Connections

Pupils are enabled to explore colour in a very personal and intuitive way.

Taking inspiration from artists who use colour, light and form to create immersive installations, pupils are encouraged to create (propose) their own art work. They are enabled to imagine “what if...?” and encouraged to share their vision or imagining with others through mock-up artworks and models.

Recognising pupils growing ability to articulate their thoughts, and understand that we can use art to bring people together through sharing common experiences, such as how our bodies and minds react in certain colourful environments, pupils are empowered to create their own response to simple sculptural challenges.

Pupils use sketchbooks throughout to record, test and reflect.
